DAVIS THEATRE.

Mike Sacks and Company in an Entire New Show Today—New Photoplays Also.

Mike Sacks and company will present an entirely different show for the last two days of this week. The name of the show for this change is Izzy's Courtroom, and this is conceded to be the funniest show of their repertoire. Mr. Sacks plays the part of Izzy and he keeps everyone in roars of laughter throughout the entire performance. All the singing and dancing numbers will be new today and nothing will be done that has been previously done in this city. The girls will wear new costumes and the scenes will also be new for this bill. Many new novelties never before seen here will be introduced in this bill, and everything will be up to the high standard of the show. There will be a complete change of photoplays today, headed by The Power of the Street, a new musical comedy. Domino drama of the stock exchange. Peter and Paul is an interesting drama produced by the Thannhouse company and the Keystone comedy is A Social Splash that is one long riot of laughter from beginning to end. Matinee today at 2:00; all seats 10 cents, children 5 cents. Evening at 8:00, 9:30, and 10:15. The biggest and best show ever seen for the money. Special children's matinee Saturday.

Another big musical show coming next week, direct from New York. Watch for particulars.

COLONIAL THEATRE.

Stars Their Courses Change, Three Reels, With Francis X. Bushman.

With this supremely beautiful three-reel photoplay Miss Edna Mayo, the most beautiful motion picture actress in the country, makes her debut as a lover of the silent drama. She is a charmingly refined and dainty little worker, and, outside of her fascinating presence, dominates the more thrilling scenes by her magnificent acting. The story, which features Francis Bushman as the famous author, tells how he makes a bet that she will win a proposal from him in a week. When she proposes she laughs at him and tells him it was all a wager and she does not care for him. He seeks seclusion in his forest home, but she manages to realize she does love him and in seeking him is lost in the snow, while another admirer of her is seeking her in the cabin of the auror. When they are reunited is told perfectly in this exquisite drama of the heart. Other features today are Billy Quirk in A Study in Trans and Tom Mix in The Stage Coach Driver and the Girl. We give 20 library coupons with every 10 ticket and 10 library coupons with every 5 cent ticket.

Tomorrow, The Girl of the Music Hall, in three parts, featuring Alice Joyce and all star cast.

PLANS FOR MOTORCYCLE MEET.

Sidecar Race to Be One of the Features at the Fair Grounds Monday, May 31.

One of the best things pulled off at the mammoth motorcycle meet of the Connecticut Amusement association on the fair ground track Monday, May 21, will be the sidecar race. Norwich and eastern Connecticut have never seen a sidecar race, and this one, Manager Hamilton said yesterday, is bound to be a novelty. There is a 135-pound nit on sidecar occupants fixed by the American Federation of Motorcyclists, "the car itself weighs about 100 pounds when stripped down for racing."

"There will be six or six and a half sidecars in the sidecar race," said Hamilton, "and, if I am not mistaken, his will prove the real card of the programme, against it, I will be able to come, be the whole thing. We shall have some extra good men from Providence and Boston, in addition to Fredrick Nixon, the Springfield flyer, who has been here before. Ted Carroll wants to come, and I think he may be on hand. Haven't heard yet from Bill Prescott, the New York rider, but he is expected to be 1913 racer, but I got an inquiry about other day from two other New York riders, and also heard from a man in Pittsford, Pa., where they have a big club and some fast riders."

"This is a meet sanctioned by the American Federation of Motorcyclists and for that reason I shall be able to come to secure the entries of a large number of first class men that never did anywhere except at sanctioned meets. All the men that rode here in 1913-14 have had to be reinstated, and for instance, couldn't come to Norwich for May 21 if this were not a sanctioned meet. We shall not have the runaway races of the past two years this time, but better matched riders and more excitement."

Wild Bill Burdick announced his intention of riding in the sidecar race. The out of town entries for this event are not yet ready to give out.

Work on the track will commence Monday, and it is expected that by the 31st it will present a surface simply faultless for speed.

Announcement, Beckwith, the 200-or-over megaphone man, whose force of humor is a show in itself, will do all he can to keep the crowd happy—and he knows how.

NORWICH TOWN

Informing Lecture on Birds With Pleasing Illustrations—Dr. George C. Reynolds Recovers and Leaves For Boston.

At the Audubon illustrated lecture on Birds About Our Homes, given in the First Congregational chapel on Wednesday evening, the clearness of the pictures thrown upon the screen, the beauty of the glimpses of woods and marshes where birds abound, was noted by some of the many who attended. Valuable the Audubon lecture given by Rev. G. H. Ewing, and prepared by the state board of education, was for all present, the many school children would have given closer attention to descriptions of birds and their habits if the interest of the lecture had been used as the basis of a talk.

Some helpful hints were: Go in to the daisy fields and look among dead twigs for members of the flycatcher family, search the shrubs in the garden for the brown thrasher's nest, look on the inside of your porch where on a beam the house wren is building, note the sociable least flycatcher sometimes taking a bath in the very spray of the garden hose, see the house wren's nest in the elm, put packthread about the bough to help his housekeeping as the poet Lowell did, look for bobolinks in the meadows of June, find the rosebreasted grosbeak, a fine singer and a renowned keeper of potato bugs, listen to the wonderful music of the warblers, follow the water courses for the waterfowl, reens, kingfishers, marsh wrens, and the rarely seen great blue heron.

Upon the screen was shown the white egret in all its perfection of beauty, then the next slide showed the still living bird with the feathers torn from its back. The very old, beautiful Connecticut songster, and the hermit thrush, "its song that can never be described in words" were shown. There are thousands of birds flying above our salt marshes. The winter birds on the screen were natural as we see them climbing or head down pecking away for grubs on a cold day.

"Take a good bird book with you when you go afield, but keep your eyes open and your ears alert," said Dr. Reynolds. He left town Thursday for Boston and will be in Auburndale, Mass., until he has fully recovered his strength.

Noted Here and There.

John W. Buckley of Patterson, N. J., is in town for a few days on business.

Mrs. Charles Alexander of Otoband avenue has returned after a week's stay in Northampton, Mass.

Mrs. W. R. Shanks of Holliston, Mass., is the guest of Mrs. William Stott at her home on Otoband avenue.

Mrs. Mary Gillis who since last fall has been the guest of her sister, Mrs. Emil Welte of East Town street left town Thursday for Philadelphia.

There will be May devotions and benediction at Sacred Heart church this (Friday) evening at 7:30 o'clock. The novena to the Holy Ghost closes on Saturday.

George Borman of the Canterbury turnpike who was injured while at work in the city a few weeks ago, is improving though not yet able to return to work.
